PREFACE

This report is the fourth in a series of statistical reports on U.S. imports of textiles and apparel published by the U.S. International Trade Commission under Commission investigation No. 332-343. The report covers data through 1995. The investigation under which this report was produced was instituted by the Commission on its own motion on June 15, 1993, under section 332(b) of the Tariff Act of 1930 (19 U.S.C. 1332(b)). In its initial notice of investigation, the Commission stated that it would publish three annual statistical reports on U.S. imports of textiles and apparel covered by the Multifiber Arrangement (MFA); these reports were published in June 1993, March 1994, and April 1995. On July 24, 1996, the Commission published a notice in the Federal Register (61 F.R. 38472) stating that it would publish three additional annual reports on U.S. imports of textiles and apparel in 1996-98. This is the first of those additional three reports.

As of August 1, 1996, the United States imposed quotas on imports of certain textiles and apparel from 45 countries. This report presents data for the top 35 supplier countries, whether or not their products are covered by a quota. The country data are in terms of the product categories used to administer the U.S. trade agreements program for textiles and apparel of cotton, other vegetable fibers, wool, manmade fibers, and silk blends.

The MFA was a multilateral agreement negotiated under the auspices of the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade (GATT). The MFA provided a general framework and guiding principles for the negotiation of bilateral agreements between textile importing and exporting countries, or for unilateral action by an importing country if an agreement could not be reached. The MFA, which was in effect during 1974-94, was established to deal with problems of market disruption in textile trade in developed countries, while permitting developing countries to share in expanded export opportunities. The MFA was replaced by the Uruguay Round Agreement on Textiles and Clothing (ATC), which entered into force on January 1, 1995, as part of the World Trade Organization (WTO) agreements. The ATC provides for liberalization and eventual elimination of quotas on textiles and apparel over a 10-year transition period ending on January 1, 2005.

An explanation of the abbreviations used in the descriptions of category coverage and a listing of the Harmonized Tariff Schedule numbers included in each category can be found in the U.S. Department of Commerce, International Trade Administration, 1996 Correlation: Textile and Apparel Categories with the Harmonized Tariff Schedule of the United States (Washington, DC: U.S. Government Printing Office, 1996), or on the U.S. Department of Commerce's Internet server at <http://www.ita.doc.gov/industry/textiles>.

HIGHLIGHTS

On January 1, 1995, the Multifiber Arrangement (MFA) was replaced by the Uruguay Round Agreement on Textiles and Clothing (ATC), which entered into force as part of the World Trade Organization (WTO) agreements. The MFA had governed world trade in these goods since 1974, when it was established under the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade (GATT). The MFA permitted the use of quotas without compensation, which is contrary to the general prohibition against their use under the GATT.

The structure of U.S. textile and apparel trade will become less restrictive as a result of the ATC. Under the ATC, textiles and apparel will be gradually "integrated" into the GATT regime, that is, brought under GATT discipline and subject to the same rules as goods of other sectors. As WTO countries integrate their textile and apparel trade into the GATT regime, they are obligated to eliminate quotas on imports of such items from WTO countries and they cannot establish new quotas on the integrated items other than as provided under normal GATT rules.

The GATT integration process will occur over a 10-year transition period in 3 stages. The first stage began on January 1, 1995, when WTO countries were obligated to integrate into the GATT regime at least 16 percent of their sector trade, based on 1990 import volume, and to increase the annual growth rates for quotas still in place with major suppliers by 16 percent.¹ The second stage begins in 1998, when at least another 17 percent of the trade is to be integrated, followed by at least an additional 18 percent in 2002. The rest of the trade is to be integrated at the end of the 10-year period. None of the products integrated by the United States in the first stage were under quota, and most of the goods scheduled for integration in the second and third stages either were not under quota or had underutilized quotas.²

As of August 1, 1996, the United States had quotas on textiles and apparel of cotton, other vegetable fibers such as linen and ramie, wool, manmade fibers, and silk blends (hereafter referred to as MFA products) from 45 countries that supplied about 80 percent of U.S. imports of MFA products in 1995 (table 1). Of these countries, 36 are WTO members whose shipments are subject to the terms of the ATC. Limits on nonoriginating textiles and apparel from Mexico, a WTO member, are provided for in the North American Free-Trade Agreement (NAFTA), which entered into force on January 1, 1994. NAFTA sets forth a schedule for the progressive elimination of such limits by the year 2004. Imports of MFA products from non-WTO members are subject to section 204 of the Agricultural Act of 1956.

² In the Statement of Administrative Action that accompanied the Uruguay Round Agreements Act, Public Law 103-465, the Clinton administration committed to defer the integration of the most sensitive goods until the end of the 10-year period. See Committee for the Implementation of Textile Agreements, "Final List of Products for Second, Third and Final Phase Integration of Textile and Apparel Products into GATT 1994," 60 Federal Register 21075, May 1, 1995.

U.S. Imports

U.S. imports of MFA products in 1995 grew by 6 percent over the 1994 level, to 18.3 billion equivalent square meters (SMEs), valued at almost $44 billion (tables 2-5). Most of the growth occurred in apparel imports, which rose by 10 percent to 9.3 billion SMEs valued at $34.6 billion. Apparel's share of 1995 imports was 51 percent by volume and 79 percent by value. Textile imports grew at a much slower rate than apparel imports, by 2 percent, to 9.1 billion SMEs valued at $9.3 billion. This slower growth reflected a decline of 5 percent in imports of fabric—the first such decline in 7 years. Imports of yarn rose by 7 percent and imports of made-up articles and other textiles grew by 12 percent.

Import Sources

The 1995 increase in U.S. imports of MFA products came almost entirely from the Caribbean Basin Initiative (CBI) countries and Mexico, which mainly compete with one another for assembly work from U.S. apparel firms.³ Imports of MFA products from Mexico grew by 60 percent, to 1.6 billion SMEs, while those from CBI countries rose by a much smaller 25 percent, to 2.2 billion SMEs (table 4). The more rapid growth in Mexico's shipments is largely attributable to preferential duties under NAFTA.⁴ Whereas apparel and other textile products assembled in Mexico from fabric formed and cut in the United States enter free of duty under NAFTA, such goods from CBI countries are still subject to duty on the value added offshore.⁵ Moreover, the 50-percent devaluation of the Mexican peso during December 1994-January 1995 further affected the competitive balance between Mexico and CBI countries by effectively reducing dollar prices of Mexican goods in the U.S. market. Mexico is now the third-largest, single-country source of U.S. imports of MFA products by value, with 1995 shipments of $3.0 billion, trailing only China ($4.8 billion) and Hong Kong ($4.4 billion). The CBI countries as a group, however, are the largest supplier of MFA products, with 1995 shipments of $5.5 billion.⁶

Although China remained the largest foreign supplier of textiles and apparel, the volume of its shipments fell for the second consecutive year in 1995, dropping by 13 percent to 1.8 billion SMEs valued at $4.8 billion. China's share of U.S. imports of MFA products declined to 9.7 percent from 11.8 percent in 1994. The 3-year bilateral textile agreement with China provided for no quota growth in 1994 and for 1-percent growth in 1995 and 1996.⁷ In addition, adjustments were made to available 1995 quotas due to overshipments in previous years and also transshipment charges.

⁷ A separate agreement with China signed in 1994 brought chiefly silk apparel under quota for the first time.

The traditional Big Three Asian suppliers of textiles and apparel—Hong Kong, Taiwan, and South Korea—continued to decline in relative importance, reflecting rising operating costs, labor shortages, and growing competition from lower cost countries. MFA product shipments from the Big Three declined by 5 percent in 1995 to just under 3.0 billion SMEs. The Big Three supplied just 16 percent of U.S. imports of MFA products in 1995, down from 18 percent in 1994 and from 30 percent in 1987.

U.S. imports of MFA products from the Association of South East Asian Nations (ASEAN)—Brunei, Indonesia, Malaysia, the Philippines, Singapore, Thailand, and, most recently, Vietnam—countries together increased by 4 percent in 1995, to 2.2 billion SMEs valued at $5.7 billion. Most of the growth was concentrated in imports from Indonesia and the Philippines, which rose by 14 and 5 percent, respectively. Imports of MFA products from Malaysia and Thailand remained relatively unchanged in 1995 and those from Singapore declined by 17 percent.

Significant growth occurred in shipments from other developing countries in Asia, which have become important suppliers in recent years. U.S. imports of MFA products from India and Pakistan each increased by 11 percent in 1995 and those from Bangladesh and Sri Lanka grew by 24 and 21 percent, respectively.

U.S. imports of MFA products from developed countries rose slightly in 1995, as the increase in shipments from Canada of 18 percent more than offset a 6-percent decline in shipments from the European Union (EU) and a 22-percent decline in imports from Japan. Canada's shipments have increased annually since 1989 when the United States-Canada Free Trade Agreement (CFTA) entered into force, rising overall by 142 percent.⁸ With shipments of 1.6 billion SMEs valued at $1.7 billion in 1995, Canada continued to be the second largest volume supplier of MFA products behind China. Canada is the largest supplier of textile products, a major portion of which involves intracompany trade (i.e., cross-border trade between separate operations of individual firms).

⁸ The duty phaseout schedule of the CFTA has been incorporated and continued under NAFTA.

¹ The 807 tariff item (now HTS 9802.00.80) provides a partial duty exemption for goods assembled abroad of U.S. components (duty is paid on the value added abroad). A Special Access Program established under the 807 provision for the Caribbean Basin Initiative (CBI) countries in 1986 permits eligible countries flexible and guaranteed access to the U.S. market for apparel assembled from fabric formed and cut in the United States. A similar Special Regime had been in effect with Mexico during 1989-93. Under NAFTA, which entered into force on January 1, 1994, apparel and textile goods assembled in Mexico from U.S. formed and cut fabric enter free of duty and quota under newly created HTS 9802.00.90. Such imports are shown for Mexico in the "special 807" column for 1994.

Note.—Because of rounding, figures may not add up to totals shown.
