FOREWORD

This report contains the annual update of data originally published in USITC Publication 1131, The Multifiber Arrangement, 1973 to 1980, March 1981.

During 1991 the United States had bilateral agreements or quotas with more than 40 countries and special "quota exemption" agreements with two U.S. insular areas (Guam and the Northern Mariana Islands). Data on U.S. imports of textiles and apparel from these and other selected countries are presented in this report for 1988-91. The data are by country and in terms of the product categories currently used to administer the U.S. trade agreements program under the Multifiber Arrangement (MFA).

The MFA is an international compact negotiated under the auspices of the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade (GATT) that allows contracting parties to apply quantitative restrictions on textile imports when the importing country considers them necessary to prevent market disruption. Established in 1974, the MFA was extended in 1991, for a fourth time, through December 31, 1992. The MFA initially covered trade in cotton, wool, and manmade-fiber goods. Its product coverage was expanded in August 1986 to products of other vegetable fibers and silk blends. The MFA's future is being considered in the GATT Uruguay Round of multilateral trade negotiations.

HIGHLIGHTS

U.S. Imports

U.S. imports of MFA products in 1991 reached a record of almost 12.8 billion square meter equivalents (SME) valued at $29.0 billion, exceeding 1990 levels by 4.7 percent in volume and 3.9 percent in value (table 9). Although a marked increase from the negligible gain in 1990, the growth in 1991 still remained under the 6-percent average annual rate during 1985-90.

Apparel is the principal MFA import, although its share of the total shrank somewhat in 1991, to 77 percent by value and 48 percent by volume. Nevertheless, apparel imports grew by 2.4 percent to a record of almost 6.2 billion SME (table 3). They had fallen slightly in 1990 after surging in 1989. The growth in apparel imports in 1991 came almost entirely from cotton apparel, especially underwear (category 352), miscellaneous apparel (359), and trousers (347/8) (see section B). In contrast, imports of manmade-fiber garments, the largest apparel import segment, declined slightly for the second consecutive year. The weakness in this segment resulted mainly from a continued decline in imports of manmade-fiber sweaters (645/6) in the wake of U.S. antidumping proceedings and the resultant issuance of antidumping orders on shipments of such goods from the "Big Three" suppliers—Hong Kong, Taiwan, and Korea. Significant decreases were also recorded in imports of knit shirts (638/9) and men's woven shirts (640), helping to offset a sizable gain in other apparel (659).

Fabric imports showed the greatest growth in absolute terms during 1991, rising by 332 million SME, or by 10 percent, to a new high of 3.5 billion SME. The growth was spread among the fiber categories, although in terms of actual volume the predominant fibers—cotton and manmade—accounted for almost all of the increase. Gains of more than 40 million SME occurred in nonwovens (223), knits (222), sheeting (313), and twills and sateens (317).

For the two remaining sectors, yarn imports ended their 4-year decline in 1991, while imports of made-up and miscellaneous textiles remained unchanged. Yarn imports rose by 11 percent, to nearly 1.1 billion SME, although they remained far below annual levels reached during the second half of the 1980s. Imports of made-up and miscellaneous products, such as carpet and other textile home furnishings, almost reached the record 1990 level of nearly 2.1 billion SME.

Import sources

Combined, the major suppliers showed no import growth in 1991 (table 10). Imports from China, the largest supplier by volume, and Hong Kong, the largest by value, rose by roughly 1 percent each, to 1.7 billion SME (nearly $3.8 billion) and almost 1.0 billion SME ($3.9 billion), respectively. Imports from Taiwan rebounded by almost 8 percent in 1991, although they remained slightly below their 1989 record high. Imports from Korea declined for the second consecutive year in 1991, falling by 12 percent to 859 million SME ($2.4 billion), keeping the Big Three from showing any overall growth that year.

Imports from the European Community also dropped for the second consecutive year, by 12 percent, to 952 million SME, the lowest level in at least 5 years. Canadian shipments rose by 14 percent in 1991, continuing their rapid growth since at least 1988, spurred on in part by the bilateral free-trade agreement in effect since 1989. The growth enabled Canada to supplant Korea as the fourth-largest individual volume supplier, with shipments of 880 million SME, although it is a distant 12th in terms of value.

Substantial growth was registered in imports from Mexico, with whom the United States and Canada have just concluded negotiations for a North American Free-Trade Agreement (NAFTA). After showing little growth in recent years, despite the liberalization of Mexican quotas, imports from Mexico increased by 25 percent in quantity and 30 percent in value. Similarly, the growth in imports from the Caribbean Basin picked up sharply in 1991, rising by 23 percent in volume to a record 1.1 billion SME. This marked the first time that Caribbean Basin shipments exceeded the 1 billion-SME level. Trade with Mexico and the Caribbean countries largely involved the assembly of garments from U.S. components.

Bilateral agreements

The United States had import-restraint agreements or quotas with some 40 countries in 1991. These countries supplied 83 percent of total MFA imports by value for that year.

*Signatory to the MFA Protocol that went into effect on 08/01/91.

1/ The agreement with this country was allowed to expire without being renewed.

2/ The former Soviet Union. The Committee for the Implementation of Textile Agreements issued a directive on July 24, 1992, directing that the quota applicable to exports from the former Soviet Union would be applied cumulatively to exports from the 12 successor states for the period Jan. 1, 1992, through Dec. 31, 1992.

3/ The agreements with Guam, a U.S. territory, and the Northern Mariana Islands, a U.S. commonwealth, are "quota exceptions" for sweaters classified as products of foreign countries, but assembled in these insular areas. In general, quota-free entry is allowed for a specified number of sweaters provided that a certain portion of the assembly workers were citizens or nationals of certain areas or the United States. Imports in excess of the specified amounts are charged to quotas established for the country of origin, usually the country where the sweater parts were knitted.

4/ Not applicable.

5/ Also includes the Republic of Croatia and the Republic of Slovenia.
