PREFACE

This report is the sixth in a series of statistical reports on U.S. imports of textiles and apparel published by the U.S. International Trade Commission under Commission investigation No. 332-343. The report covers data through 1997. The investigation under which this report was produced was instituted by the Commission on its own motion on June 15, 1993, under section 332(b) of the Tariff Act of 1930 (19 U.S.C. 1332(b)). In its initial notice of investigation, the Commission stated that it would publish three annual statistical reports on U.S. imports of textiles and apparel covered by the Multifiber Arrangement (MFA); these reports were published in June 1993, March 1994, and April 1995. On July 24, 1996, the Commission published a notice in the Federal Register (61 F.R. 38472) stating that it would publish three additional annual reports on U.S. imports of textiles and apparel in 1996-98. This is the last of those additional three reports.

As of April 1, 1998, the United States had quotas on imports of textiles and apparel from 47 countries. This report presents data for the top 35 supplier countries by value, whether or not their products are covered by a quota. The country data are in terms of the product categories used to administer the U.S. trade agreements program for textiles and apparel of cotton, other vegetable fibers, wool, manmade fibers, and silk blends.

The MFA was a multilateral agreement negotiated under the auspices of the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade (GATT). The MFA provided a general framework and guiding principles for the negotiation of bilateral agreements between textile importing and exporting countries, or for unilateral action by an importing country if an agreement could not be reached. The MFA, which was in effect during 1974-94, was established to deal with problems of market disruption in textile trade in developed countries, while permitting developing countries to share in expanded export opportunities. The MFA was replaced by the Uruguay Round Agreement on Textiles and Clothing (ATC), which entered into force on January 1, 1995, as part of the World Trade Organization (WTO) agreements. The ATC provides for liberalization and eventual elimination of quotas on textiles and apparel over a 10-year transition period ending on January 1, 2005.

An explanation of the abbreviations used in the descriptions of category coverage and a listing of the Harmonized Tariff Schedule numbers included in each category can be found on the Internet server of the U.S. Department of Commerce, International Trade Administration, Office of Textiles and Apparel, at <http://otexa.ita.doc.gov/cats.htm>.

HIGHLIGHTS

On January 1, 1995, the Uruguay Round Agreement on Textiles and Clothing (ATC) entered into force as part of the World Trade Organization (WTO) agreements. The ATC replaced the Multifiber Arrangement (MFA), which had governed world textile and apparel trade since 1974. The MFA permitted the use of quotas without compensation, which is contrary to the general prohibition against their use under the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade (GATT).

Under the ATC, textiles and apparel will be gradually “integrated” into the GATT regime, that is, be brought under GATT discipline and be subject to the same rules as goods of other sectors. As WTO countries integrate their textile and apparel trade into the GATT regime, they are obligated to eliminate quotas on imports of such items from other WTO countries.

The GATT integration process will occur over a 10-year period in three stages. The first stage began on January 1, 1995, when WTO countries were obligated to integrate at least 16 percent of their sector trade into the GATT regime, based on 1990 import volume, and to increase the annual growth rates for quotas still in place with major suppliers by 16 percent.<sup>1</sup> The second stage began on January 1, 1998, when WTO countries were obligated to integrate at least another 17 percent of their sector trade into the GATT regime and to increase the annual growth rates for quotas still in place with major suppliers by 25 percent. The third stage begins in 2002, when at least another 18 percent of the trade is to be integrated.<sup>2</sup> The rest of the trade is to be integrated at the end of the 10-year period. None of the products integrated by the United States in the first stage was under quota; most of the goods integrated in the second stage and scheduled for integration in the third stage either were not under quota or had underutilized quotas.<sup>3</sup>

The United States has quotas on textiles and apparel of cotton, other vegetable fibers, wool, manmade fibers, and silk blends (hereafter referred to as MFA products) from 47 countries (table 1). Of these countries, 37 are WTO members whose shipments are subject to the terms of the ATC. For Mexico, a WTO member, the North American Free-Trade Agreement (NAFTA) provides for the elimination of limits on “nonoriginating” textiles and apparel by 2004. Imports of MFA products from non-WTO members are subject to section 204 of the Agricultural Act of 1956.

U.S. Imports

U.S. imports of MFA products in 1997 reached a record 22.9 billion equivalent square meters (SMEs) valued at $54 billion, representing a gain of 20 percent, or 3.8 billion SMEs, over the 1996 level (tables 2-5). The 1997 increase in percentage terms was the largest since 1986, when imports grew by 21 percent, and it marked the first time in 5 years that annual import growth exceeded 10 percent.

The 1997 import increase was widespread among product groups. Apparel imports rose by almost 18 percent, or by 1.7 billion SMEs, to 11.3 billion SMEs, valued at $42.8 billion. Apparel accounted for just under 50 percent of the total quantity but for 79 percent of the total value of U.S. imports of MFA goods in 1997. Textile imports grew by 23 percent, or by 2.1 billion SMEs, to <sup>1</sup> The acceleration of quota growth rates is based on the rates specified in the bilateral MFA agreements in place on December 31, 1994. For small suppliers (those accounting for 1.2 percent or less of an importing country's total quotas as of December 31, 1991), quota growth was advanced by one stage, that is, growth rates were increased by 25 percent in the first stage and by 27 percent in the second stage.

<sup>2</sup> In the third stage of integration, quota growth for major suppliers is to be increased by another 27 percent.

<sup>3</sup> The Statement of Administrative Action (SAA) accompanying the U.S. Uruguay Round Agreements implementing legislation states that the Committee for the Implementation of Textile Agreements (CITA), in drawing up the lists of products, was to defer the integration of the most sensitive goods until the end of the 10-year

11.5 billion SMEs, valued at $11.2 billion. Among the major textile products, yarn imports rose by 21 percent, to 2.3 billion SMEs, and imports of made-up articles and miscellaneous textiles increased by 18 percent, to 3.8 billion SMEs. Fabric imports rose by 27 percent in 1997, to 5.4 billion SMEs, compared with annual growth of less than 1 percent in 1996.

Import Sources

The ongoing shift in U.S. textile and apparel imports continued in 1997, with countries benefiting from preferential market access, namely NAFTA partners Mexico and Canada, and the Caribbean Basin Initiative (CBI) countries, assuming a growing role. In 1997, U.S. imports of MFA goods from Mexico grew by 38 percent, to 3.0 billion SMEs, valued at $5.9 billion, and have more than tripled since the enactment of NAFTA in 1994. As a result, Mexico is the largest supplier by quantity (13.3 percent of the 1997 total) and the second-largest by value (11.0 percent) after China. Some 85 percent of the total value of Mexico's shipments in 1997, or $5.1 billion, consisted of apparel. Mexico moved ahead of Hong Kong ($3.9 billion) and China ($4.5 billion) to become the largest supplier of apparel imports in 1997.

Slightly more than 70 percent of the 1997 imports from Mexico, or $4.2 billion, entered under the 9802 tariff provision, which provides a duty exemption for U.S.-made components returned to the United States as parts of articles assembled abroad (table 6). In general, duty is assessed on the value added abroad and not on the value of the U.S. parts sent offshore for assembly. Under NAFTA, however, apparel and other textile articles assembled in Mexico from fabric both made and cut in the United States may enter free of duty and quota. As such, most 9802 imports of MFA goods from Mexico (86 percent in 1997) enter free of duty and quota.

U.S. imports of MFA goods from Canada rose by 16 percent in 1997, to 2.1 billion SMEs, valued at $2.4 billion, making Canada the third-largest supplier by quantity after Mexico and China. Most of the import quantity from Canada consisted of textiles, for which Canada is the largest supplier by quantity (1.9 billion SMEs) and the second-largest by value ($1.2 billion) after China ($1.5 billion). Apparel imports from Canada are also growing in importance; in 1997, they rose by 33 percent, to 186 million SMEs, valued at $1.2 billion.

U.S. imports of MFA goods from CBI countries grew by 25 percent in 1997, to almost 3.0 billion SMEs, valued at $7.7 billion (table 6). Although most CBI countries individually are small suppliers of MFA goods, as a group they were the second-largest source by quantity after Mexico, with 13.0 percent of the total quantity, and the largest by value with 14.2 percent of the total in 1997. The CBI shipments consist almost entirely of apparel, most of which enters under the 9802 tariff provision. Under a special access program set up for CBI countries within the framework of the 9802 provision, apparel assembled in participating countries from U.S.-made and -cut fabric is eligible to enter under preferential quotas known as guaranteed access levels (GALs). However, whereas garments assembled in Mexico from U.S.-made and -cut fabric enter free of duty under NAFTA, similar CBI goods are still subject to duty on the value added offshore.<sup>4</sup>

U.S. imports of MFA goods from Asia (including Oceania) rebounded by 17 percent in 1997, to 12.0 billion SMEs, valued at $30.7 billion (table 4). Asia supplied 52 percent of the total quantity of U.S. MFA-product imports in 1997, down from 54 percent in 1996 and 63 percent in 1993. China remained the largest foreign supplier of MFA goods by value in 1997, and the volume of its shipments rose for the first time in 3 years, by 27 percent, to 2.1 billion SMEs, valued at $6.0 billion. China's share of U.S. MFA-product imports rose to 9.2 percent in 1997 from 8.6 percent in 1996, but it is down from 13.3 percent in 1993.

<sup>3</sup>Continued—period. See SAA at 115; see also CITA, “Final List of Products for Second, Third and Final Phase Integration of Textile and Apparel Products into GATT 1994,” published in the Federal Register of May 1, 1995 (60 F.R. 21075).

<sup>4</sup>For every $10 in f.o.b. value, a typical CBI garment entered under the 9802 provision contains $6.40 in duty-free U.S. parts and $3.60 in dutiable, foreign value-added. Applying the 1997 trade-weighted average duty on apparel of 15.5 percent to the foreign value-added yields an average duty of $0.56, or an ad valorem equivalent of 5.6 percent.

The traditional Big Three Asian suppliers of textiles and apparel—Hong Kong, Taiwan, and the Republic of Korea—continued to decline in relative importance. U.S. imports of MFA goods from the Big Three rose by 2 percent in 1997, to 2.9 billion SMEs, valued at $9.2 billion. The Big Three supplied 12.6 percent of the total quantity of U.S. MFA-product imports in 1997, down from 14.8 percent a year earlier and from more than 30 percent in the 1980s.

U.S. imports of MFA goods from the ASEAN (Association of South East Asian Nations) countries—Brunei, Indonesia, Malaysia, the Philippines, Singapore, Thailand, and Vietnam—together rose by 20 percent in 1997, to 2.6 billion SMEs, valued at $6.5 billion. Significant growth also occurred in U.S. imports of MFA goods from South Asia, led by India, Pakistan, Bangladesh, and Sri Lanka. U.S. imports of such goods from these 4 countries grew by a combined 23 percent in 1997, to 3.4 billion SMEs, valued at $6.1 billion.

U.S. imports of MFA goods from Europe rebounded by 18 percent in 1997, to 2.1 billion SMEs, valued at $5.5 billion. Imports from the European Union rose by 14 percent, to 1.4 billion SMEs, valued at $3.8 billion.

U.S. imports of MFA goods from Africa also rebounded in 1997, by 20 percent, to 359 million SMEs, valued at $910 million (table 4). The increase in African shipments resulted mainly from larger shipments from Egypt, the largest supplier on the continent. Imports from sub-Saharan Africa partially recovered in 1997, rising by almost 9 percent, to 144 million SMEs, valued at $455 million; they had fallen by 1.4 percent in 1995 and by 9.1 percent in 1996.

<sup>1</sup> The 807 tariff item (now 9802) provides a partial duty exemption for goods assembled abroad of U.S. components (duty is paid on the value added abroad). A Special Access Program established under the 807 provision for the Caribbean Basin Initiative (CBI) countries in 1986 permits eligible countries guaranteed access to the U.S. market for apparel assembled from fabric formed and cut in the United States. A similar Special Regime had been in effect with Mexico during 1989-93. Under NAFTA, which entered into force on January 1, 1994, apparel and textile goods assembled in Mexico from U.S.-formed and cut fabric enter free of duty and quota under HTS 9802.00.90. Imports under the Special Access Program, the Special Regime, and HTS 9802.00.90 are shown in the "special 807" column.
